

Announcement and Call for Papers

Twenty-eighth Annual Hume Society Conference

University of Victoria

Victoria, British Columbia, Canada

July 23–27, 2001

Conference Co-Directors:

David Fate Norton, McGill University, University of Victoria

James Tully, University of Victoria

Paul B. Wood, University of Victoria

Don Garrett, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill

The Hume Society is pleased to announce a call for papers for its twenty-eighth annual conference, to be held July 23–27, 2001 in Victoria, British Columbia, Canada. Papers on any aspect of Hume's life and works will be considered for the program. However, the conference directors especially welcome submissions on the following topics:

- Hume and Locke
- Hume and the Passions
- Hume as Storyteller

In addition, the Program Committee invites brief (1200 words maximum) submissions for a symposium on Hume's remark, 'A wise man, therefore, proportions his belief to the evidence' (EHU 10.4). Several such submissions will be selected for presentation at this symposium, which will include ample opportunity for discussion by the participants and the audience.

The Hume Society has set aside special funds to help in covering the travel costs of graduate students reading papers. These funds will be given at the discretion of the conference co-directors to those whose papers are accepted through the normal refereeing process.

Papers should be no longer than thirty minutes in reading length, with self-references deleted for blind reviewing; the author's name should appear only on a front cover sheet. Papers may be in English, French, or German, but an abstract in English of up to 150 words is required for all papers.

Submissions must be postmarked by November 1, 2000. Send triplicate copies of both abstracts and papers to:

Colin and Ailsa Turbayne
International
Berkeley Essay Prize Competition

Professor and the late Mrs Colin Turnbayne established an International Berkeley Essay Prize competition in conjunction with the Philosophy Department at the University of Rochester.

The next deadline for submitting papers is November 1, 2000. For the 2000 competition, submitted papers should address some aspect of Berkeley's theory of vision. Essays should be new and unpublished and not exceed 5,000 words in length. All references to Berkeley should be to Luce/Jessop, and an MLA or similar standard for notes should be followed. Submissions are blind reviewed and will be judged by members of a review board selected by the Department of Philosophy at the University of Rochester. The winner will be announced March 1, 2001 and will receive a prize of $2,000. Copies of the winning essays are to be sent to the George Berkeley Library Study Center located in Berkeley's home in Whitehall, Newport, RI.
