

41st Annual Hume Society Conference

Hosted by Portland State University
Portland, Oregon

July 22–26, 2014

The Hume Society is pleased to announce its 41st annual conference. We invite papers in all areas of Hume studies but especially welcome submissions bearing some relation to the conference themes.

Themes include:

- Hume and Language
- Hume's Enlightenment Legacy
- Hume and His Critics

Papers should be no more than thirty minutes reading length (4000 words) and should be submitted with an abstract (200 words). All self-references should be deleted for anonymous review. Papers and abstracts must be submitted in English. Papers should not have been published by the date of the conference. Authors may submit their papers as either MS Word documents or in rich text format (RTF).

Submissions should be sent to <http://www.humesociety.org/conferences/cmgr/>.

Hume Society Young Scholar Awards are given to qualifying graduate students whose papers are accepted through the anonymous review process.

Deadline for Submissions: November 1, 2013

For further information about the conference, please visit the Hume Society website at www.humesociety.org or visit the conference website at www.humesociety.org/Portland/index.asp.

Journal of Scottish Philosophy

The Journal of Scottish Philosophy publishes innovative work by philosophers and historians of ideas on all aspects and every period of the Scottish philosophical tradition – philosophical psychology, metaphysics, philosophy of science, ethics and moral philosophy, political and social theory – from the late scholastics of the fifteenth century through the eighteenth-century Enlightenment philosophers to the Scottish Idealists of the late-nineteenth and early-twentieth centuries. It has a special interest in the writings of Thomas Reid, and in the influence and impact of Scottish philosophy on the foundations of theology and education in North America.

The journal is edited by Gordon Graham and published by Edinburgh University Press on behalf of the Center for the Study of Scottish Philosophy at Princeton Theological Seminary. It is available to individual subscribers at substantially reduced rates through membership of The International Association for Scottish Philosophy (IASP).
