

HUME STUDIES

Hume Studies is an interdisciplinary scholarly journal dedicated to publishing important work bearing on the thought of David Hume. The journal is receptive to a wide variety of topics, methods, and approaches, so long as the work contributes to the understanding of Hume's thought, meets the highest standards of scholarship, and demonstrates mastery of the relevant scholarly literature. Hume Studies is published by the Hume Society in April and November. For more information on joining the Hume Society, please visit www.humesociety.org.

The Hume Studies cover incorporates David Hume's bookplate as found in a copy of L'Abbé De Mably's Observations sur l'histoire de France, Geneva, 1765. The bookplate is reproduced courtesy of the David Hume Collection, Department of Rare Books and Special Collections, McGill University Libraries, McGill University, Montreal, Canada.

The editors welcome original analyses or interpretations of Hume's writings and original research concerning any aspect of Hume's life, influences, intellectual milieu, or reception. We actively solicit work concerning Hume's contributions to, or influences on, any field, including philosophy, history, politics, economics, psychology, and anthropology and particularly welcome work that explores or sheds light on the contemporary relevance of Hume's contributions and influences.

The editors strongly encourage submission of articles in electronic form, either as an upload to the journal's editorial console, <http://console.humestudies.org>, as e-mail attachments, or on disk. All submissions should be word-processed or typed, double-spaced, prepared for anonymous review, and accompanied by a brief abstract. Electronic submissions in Word or Rich Text Format are preferred.

Articles may be submitted in English, French, German, or Italian. Quotations from Hume's Treatise, Enquiries, Dissertation on the Passions, and The Natural History of Religion should be cited by section and paragraph number, and based on the Clarendon Edition texts. Page references for the Selby-Bigge and Nidditch editions of the Treatise and Enquiries should also be provided. For details, see <http://www.humestudies.org/notes.htm>.

Authors are responsible for accurate quotations and should not modify punctuation or spelling. Authors of accepted articles will receive a journal style sheet and instructions for electronic submission of the final version. Page proofs will require immediate review; author changes will not be accepted at this stage.

Electronic submissions and related correspondence should be sent to submissions@humestudies.org. Paper submissions and related correspondence should be sent to:
