The Hume Society is pleased to announce its 44th annual conference. We invite papers in all areas of Hume studies but especially welcome submissions bearing some relation to the conference themes.

Hume and Berkeley

Hume on time and its significance

Hume on human differences (including differences of sex, race, nation, ethnicity, and between humans and animals)

Papers should be no more than thirty minutes reading length (4000 words) and should be submitted with an Abstract (200 words).

All self-references should be deleted for anonymous review.

Papers and Abstracts must be submitted in English.

Papers should not have been published by the date of the conference.

Authors may submit their papers as either MS Word documents or in rich text format (RTF).

Submissions should be sent to <http://www.humesociety.org/conferences/cmgr/>

Hume Society Young Scholar Awards are given to qualifying graduate students whose papers are accepted through the normal anonymous review process.

Deadline for Submissions: November 1, 2016

Please email web@humesociety.org for questions regarding paper submissions.

Journal of Scottish Philosophy

The Journal of Scottish Philosophy (JSP) publishes innovative work by philosophers and historians of ideas on all aspects and every period of the Scottish philosophical tradition—philosophical psychology, metaphysics, philosophy of science, ethics and moral philosophy, political and social theory, from the late scholastics of the 15th century through the 18th century Enlightenment philosophers to the Scottish Idealists of the late 19th and early 20th centuries. It has a special interest in the writings of Thomas Reid, and in the influence and impact of Scottish philosophy on the foundations of theology and education in North America.

The journal is international in scope. Its referees are drawn from experts across the world, and it regularly includes contributions from philosophers and scholars in Britain, continental Europe, Canada, the United States, Japan and South America. In addition to the publication of substantial articles, the Reviews Section provides critical notices of both important new monographs and new editions of the works of major Scottish philosophers. Subscription to the JSP, both in print and online, is available to individuals at a substantially reduced price through the International Association for Scottish Philosophy www.scottishphilosophy.org.

Published by Edinburgh University Press on behalf of the Center for the Study of Scottish Philosophy, one of three research centers based at Princeton Theological Seminary <http://libweb.ptsem.edu/collections/scottish>.
