

World Congress of Philosophy Collection

Over 200 Volumes Online

The World Congress of Philosophy is held every five years under the auspices of the International Federation of Philosophical Societies (FISP). Each World Congress is a significant cultural event. In most cases a Proceedings collection is published that captures the best work presented. The Philosophy Documentation Center has digitized all of these collections. Over 200 volumes are now available online.

Open Access Resources for Philosophy Teachers

Great Design • Easy to Use • Free Information

“One of the most comprehensive, well-researched, and accessible guides for teachers that I have ever seen.”

—James Lang, Chronicle of Higher Education

Teach Philosophy 101 (TΦ101) is a unique collection of open access resources for philosophy teachers. It presents strategies and planning tools for faculty members and graduate assistants who teach philosophy courses, especially at the introductory level. The mission of TΦ101 is to enhance undergraduate student learning in introductory philosophy courses by providing free, user-friendly strategies and resources to everyone in the academic community. All materials are provided on a Creative Commons open source license. Download whatever you need.

www.teachphilosophy101.org

TΦ101 is edited by Prof. Emily Esch, with support from the College of Saint Benedict and Saint John’s University. TΦ101 was created by John Immerwahr at Villanova University and the Philosophy Documentation Center provides a permanent home for this great resource.

Idealistic Studies

An Interdisciplinary Journal of Philosophy

Edited by Jennifer Bates, Duquesne University

Idealistic Studies provides a peer-reviewed forum for the discussion of themes and topics that relate to the tradition and legacy of philosophical Idealism. Established in 1971 as a vehicle for American Personalism and post-Kantian Idealism, the journal's purview now includes historically earlier expressions, as well as the inheritance of that past in the developments of late 19th to mid-20th century philosophy. The journal has also become a venue for a number of philosophical movements that share Idealism in their genealogies, including Phenomenology, Neo-Kantianism, Historicism, Hermeneutics, Life Philosophy, Existentialism, and Pragmatism.
