The Hume Society is pleased to announce a call for papers for its Twentieth Hume Conference to be held at the University of Ottawa from July 6-10, 1993. The Society will meet jointly with the Eighteenth-Century Scottish Studies Society (ECSSS) and the main theme of the conference will be "Hume and His Scottish Setting." However, papers on all aspects of Hume's writings will be considered, and submissions on the following additional themes are also particularly encouraged:

Hume and His Critics*Hume and the Practice of History in the Enlightenment*Hume's Critique of Religion

Papers should be no more than thirty minutes reading length with self-references deleted for blind refereeing and accompanied by 100-word abstracts.

The deadline for submissions is October 15, 1992.

Send three copies of papers and abstracts to:
